Tiny Love Baby Wind Chimes

Manufactured from 2002 onwards

The Baby wind chimes are being recalled due to a few cases where the wind chime's body has become open, exposing sharp metal rods.

There were only a few cases of the toy opening up out of over 2.5 million units sold worldwide.

A consumer with an affected product should stop using immediately and contact Tiny Love to arrange return of the product and to receive a toy of comparable retail value. Alternatively products can be returned to a Mothercare store for a full refund.

If you require any further information please contact Tiny Love on the following number.
